Supremecoat Ceramic Paint Protection

When examined under a microscope, the paint surface of your caravan has a rough cross-section consisting of peaks and valleys. Over time dirt and contaminants get trapped within the paint surface, eventually causing the paint surface to oxidise and fade.

How does Supremecoat Ceramic work?

When applied to your caravan's paintwork, Supremecoat's polysilazane formulation interlocks its molecular structure to the caravan's paintwork, filling any imperfections and creating a highly durable high gloss ceramic protective barrier. This ceramic barrier adds protection against the sun's UV rays, acid rain, road salts, tree sap and environmental pollutants. Supremecoat Ceramic now gives you the freedom and choice of how you want to have your caravan cleaned, even jet washes can be used without the risk of invalidating your guarantee.

Supremecoat Interior Protection

Supremecoat fabric and class leading leather protector is the most super-hydrophobic coating available that can be applied to any textile and leather surfaces. Surfaces coated with Supremecoat's fabric and leather protector are protected from liquid spills and damaging chemicals that may stain or discolour the interior surface. Supremecoat's interior protection comes from the high-tech industry and is an inorganic compound. Supremecoat's interior protector dramatically reduces the surface energy, so that when liquids come into contact with it, they form beads and simply roll off. This enables the fabric and leather seat surfaces to be free from water, dust and all other liquids, without affecting the look or feel. Liquid on a surface coated with Supremecoat's interior protection will simply roll around on top of the fibres, allowing it to be easily cleaned up.
