LifeProof Paint Protection

When examined under a microscope, the paint surface of your vehicle has a rough cross-section consisting of peaks and valleys. Over time dirt and contaminants get trapped within the paint surface, eventually causing the paint surface to oxidise and fade.

How does LifeProof work?

When applied to your vehicle's paintwork, LifeProof's polysilazane formulation interlocks its molecular structure to the vehicle's paintwork, filling any imperfections and creating a highly durable high gloss ceramic protective barrier. This ceramic barrier adds protection against the sun's UV rays, acid rain, road salts, tree sap and environmental pollutants. LifeProof now gives you the freedom and choice of how you want to have your vehicle cleaned, even jet washes can be used without the risk of invalidating your guarantee.

What is Paint Protection?

Paint protection is nothing new, it's been around for over 40 years. The concept of paint sealant is to protect your caravan's paintwork finish from deteriorating, which is caused by the harmful chemicals that are contained in today's environment such as road salt, chemical fallout and acid rain which all contribute to damaging the surface and paint finish of your caravan's exterior. Most paint protection products only use polymer based paint sealants. These sealants are often less effective than products you can buy off the shelf in well-known auto parts stores. They are based on technology developed two decades ago: amino functional fluids, which plasticize as they dry. This creates a temporary, sacrificial, soft layer on the paint surface which can wash off within 2-3 months. That is why many competing products require you to apply a preserver application every six months to a year.

LifeProof Interior Protection

LifeProof fabric and class leading leather protector is the most superhydrophobic coating available that can be applied to any textile and leather surfaces. Surfaces coated with LifeProof fabric and leather protector are protected from liquid spills and damaging chemicals that may stain or discolour the interior surface. LifeProof interior protection comes from the high-tech industry and is an inorganic compound. LifeProof's interior protector dramatically reduces the surface energy, so that when liquids come into contact with it, they form beads and simply roll off. This enables the fabric and leather seat surfaces to be free from water, dust and all other liquids, without affecting the look or feel. Liquid on a surface coated with LifeProof interior protection will simply roll around on top of the fibres, allowing it to be easily cleaned up.
